Gentry Brothers' circus arrived here Tuesday morning and lost no time in erecting the tents on the Stearns lot, Princess Anne street, near the Silk Mill. Hundreds viewed the parade during the morning and were pleased with the free spectacle. The glided band wagons, golden chariots, magnificent cages filled with monkeys and other animals, the beautiful little Shetland ponies, the trained dogs, the clown baby elephant, comical monkey lockeys mounted, together with a long array of prettily continued performers, combined to present a splendid parade. A performance was given at 2 o'clock this alternoon and another was given at 8 o'clock that night. The Gentry Brothers have exceeded their productions of former years, and they have become famous as public entertainers. The afternoon performance was well attended. The heat was intense, but the crowd was pleased with the entertainment. The juggling, acrobats, junging dogs, performing elephants, drilling nonies, etc., were indeed remarkable and received applause. A band of music played throughout the performance.
